ORLEANS COUNTY COURT

SEPTEMBER TERM, A. D. 1912

Edgar R. Niles vs. Viola G. Lake

Whereas Edgar R. Niles, of Albany, in the County of Orleans, has filed in the office of the clerk of Orleans County Court his petition for annulment of marriage, setting forth in substance, that Viola G. Lake of Somerville, in the County of Middlesex and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, heretofore, to wit, on the 10th day of November, A. D. 1909, at Newport, in the County of Orleans, well knowing that she was not pregnant with child, and intending to deceive and defraud the petitioner, then and there fraudulently represented and asserted to the petitioner that she was then and there pregnant and quick with child, and that he was the father of said child, and then and there intending to deceive, defraud and coerce the petitioner into marrying her, then and there falsely and fraudulently represented and asserted to the petitioner, and charging him with having begotten her with said child, and then and there threatened the petitioner that unless he married her then and there she would make application to a Justice of the Peace, in accordance with the laws of this State, charging the petitioner with having begotten her with said child, and then and there threatened to have a warrant issued and the petitioner placed under arrest on the 13th day of November, A. D. 1909, the said Viola G. Lake, at Newport in said County, intending to deceive and defraud the petitioner, offered and proposed to marry him, and to refrain from making complaint to a Justice of the Peace as aforesaid, and to refrain from having the petitioner arrested as aforesaid in accordance with her said offer and proposition; and the petitioner confiding in the representations and assertions of the petitioner so made by her as aforesaid, thereafterwards on the said 13th day of November, A. D. 1909, at Newport aforesaid, entered into a contract of marriage with her, and they were then and there married by the Reverend C. D. Lance, a Minister of the Gospel, then and there duly authorized by the laws of the State of Vermont to solemnize marriages.

And further averring that said petitioner was not pregnant with child at the time of said marriage; and averring that she falsely and fraudulently deceived and defrauded him into said marriage; that on, to wit, the 1st day of June, A. D. 1910, at, to wit, Peterborough, in the State of New Hampshire, he discovered that she had deceived and defrauded him, and that he then and there refused to co-habit with her. And praying that said marriage be annulled in accordance with the statute in such case made and provided.

And it being made to appear that the said Viola G. Lake is without this State, so that a citation cannot be served upon her. Therefore, it is ordered that notice of the pendency of said petition be given her by publication of the substance thereof, together with this order in the Orleans County Monitor, a newspaper published at Barton, in the County of Orleans, three weeks successively, the last of which publications to be at least six weeks prior to the first day of the next term of Orleans County Court, to be held at Newport in the County of Orleans, on the 10th day of September, A. D. 1912, at which time the said Viola G. Lake is ordered to appear and show cause, if any she may have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted.

Given under my hand at Newport, in the County of Orleans the 1st day of July, A. D. 1912.

USE OF CROSS IN HERALDRY

More Than Four Hundred Forms of the Device Are Recognized in That Science.

In early pagan days the cross was a symbol of shame and ignominy, and only those deformed or misshapen trees that could be used for no other purpose were formed into crosses. But since the cross has become dear to Christians, says the "Ave Maria," the most precious woods and metals have been formed into it. To the third century may be traced the custom of making the Sign of the Cross. In the days of Constantine, Christians painted crosses on the entrances of their houses as a symbol of their faith.

The impetus to the use of the cross in heraldry was given by the Crusaders, who wore a red cross upon their right shoulder as a token of the obligation they had taken upon themselves. Its form and meanings in heraldic designs are many. In fact, over four hundred and seven different forms have been recorded by students of biography and genealogy.

In heraldry the cross is formed by two perpendicular and two horizontal lines crossing in the center of the shield. This form is modified in various ways by additions and combinations, thus expressing many meanings. It has been said that human intelligence has never devised a system so infinite in its varieties and so endless in its application as is to be found in the science of heraldry, in which figure twenty-seven basic or fundamental crosses.

The Greek cross has all four arms of equal length, while the Latin cross has the earth end longer than the other three arms. The Calvary or Christ Cross rests upon three steps or degrees. The Patriarch cross is recognized by its double crossbar. The St. Andrew's cross is an X, in token of the form of cross on which that saint suffered martyrdom by having his hands and feet bound to its four arms. The St. Anthony cross is shaped like a T, and has its name from the cross that St. Anthony, abbot, wore upon his cloak, though the origin of his cross seems to be Egyptian.

It is a matter of interest that many American families have the cross as the basic emblem of their escutcheons. Among them are at least five of the presidents. The Garfield shield has a blue cross in the dexter canton, and the family motto is, "In the cross I conquer." The Tyler shield had on it a bar, two crescents and a cross form. The shield of the Adams family was adorned by a large cruciform device.

Tribute to Amazons.

The magnificent example of the women of Dahomey should be made widely known wherever their more civilized sisters are to be found struggling for their rights. Frederick Martyn of the French foreign legion, who fought in the recent Dahomey campaign, tells us emphatically that "the female of the species is more deadly than the male." The Senegalese tirailleurs were attacked by the Amazons, and Mr. Martyn says that "any one inclined to sympathize with the Amazons on account of their sex and to look upon the combat between them and our men as unequal, may take it from me that their sympathy would be misplaced. These young women were far and away the best men in the Dahomeyan army, and woman to man were quite a match for any of us. They fought like unchained demons, and if driven into a corner, did not disdain to use their teeth and nails." It may be an error of policy to make these facts known, and thus to stimulate a militancy already vigorous enough.

All Fixed.

"I think I'll propose at the party to-night."
"No, you won't."
"Why won't I?"
"My sister knows the young lady in the case, and it has been arranged for you to propose at the ball next week."—Louisville Courier-Journal.
